A Letter from Rabbi Bigman

As you know, this month we celebrate Pesach. The opening chapters of the Book of Exodus tell the story of how we were slaves in Egypt and were eventually set free. We then are commanded by God through Moses to

"Remember this day, on which you went free from Egypt, the house of bondage, how God freed you from it with a mighty hand: no leavened bread shall be eaten. You go free on this day, in the month of Aviv. So, when God has brought you into the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, which was sworn to your fathers to be given you, a land flowing with milk and honey, you shall observe in this month the following practice: Seven days you shall eat unleavened bread, and on the seventh day there shall be a festival of God. Throughout the seven days unleavened bread shall be eaten; no leavened bread shall be found with you, and no leaven shall be found in all your territory. And you shall explain to your child on that day, 'It is because of what God did for me when I went free from Egypt.' And this shall serve you as a sign on your hand and as a reminder on your forehead -- in order that God's Teaching may be in your mouth -- that with a mighty hand God freed you from Egypt. You shall keep this institution at its set time from year to year. [Exodus 13:3-10]

Here we learn about not eating leavened bread, the length of this festival, and the custom of teaching our children. Later, in the Book of Leviticus, all of the Torah holidays are listed in a calendar of sorts. Here we find the commandment of Sefirat HaOmer (Counting the Omer): "'And from the day [the second day of Pesach] on which you bring the omer offering...you shall count off seven weeks. They must be complete: you must count until the day after the seventh week -- fifty days; then you shall bring an offering of new grain to the Lord.'" [Lev. 23:15-16]

So we count from the second day of Pesach to Shavuot linking our physical redemption (Pesach) to our spiritual redemption (Shavuot).

Rabbi Sharon Cohen Anisfeld taught "the Exodus teaches us that the journey from here to there has to happen one step at a time. We enact this truth in our ritual counting of the Omer. We count each day and bless the act of counting -- but we are careful never to mention the next day's count. The progression from one day to the next is not to be taken for granted. We count only the time we have been given; we look toward Sinai, but we thank God for the present moment." ["We Who are the Gardeners are Also the Garden," hebrewcollege.edu, April 12, 2018]

As you celebrate Pesach and count the days until Shavuot, I pray that you will remember that each day is a gift and not take it for granted. Chag Sameakh!

* Out of respect for our members who observe eight days of Passover, we are holding this event on the eighth day so that all members of our congregation can participate.

Security Committee Update

The Shaarey Zedek Security Committee meets regularly, collaborating with administration to keep our building secure and our congregants safe.

Shaarey Zedek is a proud recipient of a Nonprofit Security Grant from the Department of Homeland Security. Funds will be utilized for several security upgrades throughout the building. We are currently obtaining bids for these upgrades.

Shaarey Zedek Religious School (SZRS) maintains a strong focus on safety and security. Over the last several years, safety features have been added to the classrooms, and the security grant upgrades will make the classrooms more secure. An armed guard is present when school is in session. We are planning first aid training for the staff.

Let us know how we can help you feel safe! We value your feedback and your membership. If you are interested in joining the committee, or have any questions or concerns, please contact Amy Shapiro at amyjshapiro6@gmail.com or 312-841-8653.

(HAPPY BIRTHDAY)

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

JOANNE GILBERT

A key concept developed in sociologist Erving Goffman's classic text, The Presentation of Self in Everyday Life, is "frontstage" vs. "backstage" behavior. Frontstage behavior involves intentional and strategic "performance" of a particular role for a specific audience. An example is a Shabbat service in which congregants, clergy, and others enact behaviors that meet community expectations.

Backstage, on the other hand, involves more relaxed and informal behavior. An example is simply spending time with family and/or close friends, a context in which we often feel more like our authentic selves and worry less about others' perceptions. Frontstage is eating a delicious meal in a restaurant, and backstage is what happens in the kitchen. Frontstage involves acting a certain way, while backstage behavior is transparent.

Since becoming President of Congregation Shaarey Zedek in July, I have been committed to transparency—backstage behavior--by communicating with the congregation frequently in this monthly column, via email messages, and from the bimah. Likewise, Business Vice President John Anthony has communicated about the financial health of our congregation both in person and through the Monthly Bulletin. In this vein, I want to make you aware of our budgetary challenges. Like all small nonprofit organizations, we struggle to balance our budget, especially in light of rising costs and losing members to death or relocation.

Our budget is not an abstraction but a concrete reality. Last month, our utility bill was over $5,000. This cost is not sustainable without increased revenue. The Matching Campaign that our Fundraising Committee has been facilitating is ongoing. As I have previously noted, we are extremely fortunate to have a small group of generous donors who have challenged the congregation at large to match their collective $100,000 donation. And we are deeply grateful to those who have already stepped up to meet this challenge. The problem is that many congregants have not yet donated. Please remember that any amount helps and give what you can. If everyone gives even a small amount, we can meet our budgetary challenges. Your donations help fund the events you love attending as well as the ongoing needs of our synagogue. Be assured that John, the Board, and I are working assiduously to find new revenue streams and are committed to presenting a balanced budget to the congregation. Please help our community continue to thrive!

SCHOLAR-IN-RESIDENCE Program

Co-sponsored by Congregation Shaarey Zedek and the Greater Lansing Jewish Federation. All programs will be held at Congregation Shaarey Zedek.

Scholar-in-Residence Rabbi Micah Streiffer

— a Toronto-based rabbi, teacher, and Ph.D. student who is the Founder and Director of LAASOK, a virtual Beit Midrash ("House of Study") that brings together liberal Jews to engage with our sacred texts and host of the "Seven-Minute Torah" podcast.

Friday, May 2

7 p.m.

Is God Really Listening to our Prayers... and Does it Matter??

Prayer is, perhaps, the oldest and most central Jewish act. It brings us together to connect with each other and with God. But why do we pray? Who are we talking to? And what if we're not so sure whether God is listening and answering?? Turns out we are not the first Jews to ask these hard questions. In this session, we will explore some inspiring Jewish ideas – both modern and ancient – about what it means to pray.

Saturday, May 3
4:00-5:30 p.m.

Open Up Our Eyes: A Jewish Spiritual Nature Walk and Havdalah

Let's take our Judaism outdoors! Rabbi Abraham Joshua Heschel once said that the goal of life is to "live in radical amazement." We're going to turn the trail into a classroom and look for Torah amongst the trees. We'll walk, study, sing, practice mindfulness, and seek Jewish inspiration and meaning along the way. The walk will end with a musical, outdoor Havdalah.

We will meet in the Shaarey Zedek parking lot for a nature walk through the temple grounds and into Henry Fine Park. (Please note that the walk is mostly flat but not paved; we will walk for about 45 minutes; please wear appropriate footwear and bring bug spray.)

Sunday, May 4

10:00-11 a.m.

Jewish Parenting By Example

As parents, we want to pass on our values. We want our kids to learn from us to love Judaism. So how do you do that? How do we transmit what Judaism means to us, while also giving our kids space to be themselves and develop their own Jewish connections? We will look for wisdom from Jewish tradition, from psychology, from poetry, and from real life experience.
