Monthly Bulletin

JULY 2022
TAMMUZ / AV 5782

A Letter from Rabbi Bigman

Rabbi Bigman's D'var Torah from our annual congregational meeting on June 12:

At the beginning of this week's Torah portion, B'ha'alot'kha, the third Torah portion in the Book of Numbers, God "spoke to Moses, saying: 'Make you two silver trumpets, hammered work you shall make them; and they shall serve you for calling the community and for the journeying of the camps.'" [Numbers 10:1-2, Alter translation]

The Rabbis note that the Hebrew says "עָשֵׂה לָךְ שְׁנֵי חֲצֹצְרֹת" -- make yourself two silver trumpets." Why is the reflexive לָךְ l'cha (yourself) included here? What does it mean to make yourself a trumpet?

Rabbi Dr. Bradley Shavit Artson, Dean of the Ziegler School of Rabbinic Studies at the American Jewish University, one of the Conservative Movement's seminaries, notes that

A beautiful trumpet, even in the midst of producing music, doesn't draw attention to itself. It is the music it produces, not the horn, which people focus on. So too, say the sages, by making ourselves trumpets we focus attention on the God in whose service we delight. Our music is the sacred deeds we perform...

They illustrate that point with a charming midrash about King Solomon: as he was bringing the Ark into the newly-built Temple, he sang to the gates of Jerusalem: '[S'u sh'arim rasheikhem] O gates, lift up your heads... [v'yavo melek ha-kavod] so the king of glory may come in!' The doors, thinking that Solomon was referring to himself, were appalled by his arrogance. At once they 'threatened to sink down on him and crush his head.' They asked, '[Mi hu zeh melek ha-kavod?] Who is the king of glory?' and, fortunately for him, Solomon answered, 'Adonai Tz'va'ot hu melek ha-kavod! The Lord of hosts is the King of glory.' The midrash tells us that thereupon they paid God honor and lifted themselves up, and the ark entered.

Solomon was as wise, as rich, and as powerful a Jew as has ever lived. Yet he knew that the credit for his wisdom did not lie with himself. He was but a trumpet in the hands of a master musician... [Rabbi Bradley Shavit Artson, "Make Yourself a Trumpet, Toot Your Own Horn," Parashat Be'halot'cha, 16 Sivan 5764 / 21 Sivan 5769, www.aju.edu]

Today as we do the business of this congregation, let us be mindful that this is holy business. We sit in God's sanctuary, making decisions for the future of God's people, Congregation Shaarey Zedek's members. To that end, let us remember that we are God's trumpets, serving God's people, each of whom is made b'tzelem Elohim -- in God's image.

As we say together: Amen.

WE WANT YOU!

RACIAL JUSTICE MEETS CRIMINAL JUSTICE: ANTI-RACIST WORKSHOPS FOR ISRAELI POLICE UNITS

Wednesday, August 31, 7:00 p.m.

Please join us for a special presentation by Sophia Blumenthal* of Dror Israel (drorisrael.org). Dror Israel seeks to create a society of democracy, equality, and peace created through education and community, where all share responsibility, benefit from opportunity and realize their own potential in Israeli society.

Over the past decade, Dror Israel has been developing an educational pedagogy to integrate the Ethiopian-Israeli community and the story of their Aliyah into the Israeli and Zionist ethos. About five years ago, Dror Israel developed a unique guided mobile exhibit and accompanying educational session telling this amazing story, which has been run at schools, after-school programs, various educational workshops, at Sigd holiday celebrations, and more. After the controversies and clashes of recent years between the police and the Ethiopian-Israeli community, Dror Israel began developing a program together with the Israel Police using the mobile exhibit as a base, with the goal of improving relations between the community and law enforcement, helping police officers see community members in a different light, and addressing prejudices and racism.
